OMB CAUSE OF BLAST IN NEW YORK FINANCIAL DISTRICT WHICH COST LIVES OF 34, POSITIVE DECLARATION TODAY OF WILLIAM J. FLYNN

Worthy Instrument Placed By CONSTITUTION OR Person Close By at the Time.

IMPORTANT CLUE FOUND

Belief Is Expressed that Infernal Mine Was Contained in Trunk Bearing "Explosives" Sign; Search Now for Driver; Loss Totals $25,000,000.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—William J. Flynn, chief of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice, declared this afternoon he was positive that a bomb had caused the explosion in Wall street yesterday which took a toll of 34 lives, injured about 200 persons and caused property damage running into the millions.

"There is positively no doubt that it was a bomb," said Chief Flynn. "An important development in the last two hours has convinced us of this. The bomb was apparently placed by a person who was within four blocks of Broad and Wall streets when the explosion occurred."

Certain at last of the cause of the explosion, federal agents and city police increased their search for the driver of a wagon drawn by one horse which was blown to pieces. No trace of him yet been found.

The theory of the investigators is that a time bomb was placed on the wagon and that the driver hurried from the scene just after arranging for the explosion to occur at noon.

Expert chemists attached to the bureau of mines of the Department of the Interior arrived at police headquarters this afternoon from Washington and assisted in reconstruction of metal fragments believed to have been part of the bomb.

Chief Flynn said the bureau of investigation hopes to know definitely by tomorrow just what kind of a bomb was used. Expert metallurgical examination of bits of iron found in the financial district was hastened with view of obtaining this information. While a half dozen official investigations were under way members of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company conferred in regard to the disaster. Then they issued a statement to the effect that they had no knowledge as to the cause or motive of the explosion.

The Morgan firm began an investigation independent of those conducted by the federal and city authorities. Edward P. Fischer, a former employee of the French high commission in New York, who was detained by the police in Hamilton, Ont., today after he is alleged to have sent two packages to friends here from Toronto to warning them not to be in Wall street at 3 o'clock Wednesday, the 16th, will be brought to New York to testify before the September grand jury. This body was ordered today to inquire into the disaster.

Shortly before word of Fischer's detention was received a representative of the district attorney's office left for Toronto with a subpoena for him. George Lamb, division superintendent of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice, who today examined evidence brought him by a score of special agents, found one man who had been struck while on John street, fully a quarter of a mile from the scene of the explosion, by a window weight. The metal, nearly two inches in length, was hot when it fell.

Assistant District Attorney Tolley said today:

"The big thing is to establish ownership of the wrecked truck. Every stable in the city is being called to find out if a horse or truck is missing. Places where explosives are stored have also been canvassed and we have not been able to find the explosives came from any place authorized to handle them."

His expert wagon maker expressed the opinion at police headquarters that the "powder wagon" was a closed vehicle of old-time design. They said fragments of the vehicle indicated it was so distinctly a relic of wagon making of former days that the task of establishing its identity should be easier than was at first expected.

Estimates of property damage run as high as $2,500,000.

SUSPECT HELD IN CANADA MAY BE INSANE

BUFFALO, Sept. 17.—A man who admits he is Edward Fischer and that he recently was in Toronto is detained at police headquarters at Hamilton, Ont., according to a telephone message from that city received today. He is being examined to determine whether he is insane. Relatives in Hamilton are said to have informed the police of his whereabouts. He has not been questioned about a postcard warning a broker's clerk in New York to get out of Wall street. On September 15,

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The financial centers of America's big cities, from coast to coast, are armed camp today, with police and private agencies posted to guard against repetition of the mysterious explosion that rocked Wall street yesterday.

From Washington, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit, Baltimore and as far south as the Gulf of Mexico and west to the Golden Gate authorities announced heavy patrols of plain clothes men and police reserves in their big business districts and city officials worked with state and city officials to run down reports of wide-spread extremist plots.

Thirty-three persons are dead and more than 200 injured from the explosion yesterday, declared by the police as probably caused by an internal machine. Discovery of parts of clockwork in the wreckage and an incendiary experts that T. N. T. or nitric acid was used in the bomb, if there was one, have detectives and Department of Justice men on 50

DAWSON DRIVING PARK JAMMED WITH CROWD OF 20,000

"Big Day" at Annual Fair Proves to Be True to Name in Every Respect.

CLOSES THIS AFTERNOON

The height of success of country fairs was reached yesterday when the Dawson driving park, where the sixth annual Dawson fair is being held, was jammed with 20,000 persons from all over Fayette and surrounding counties. The huge crowd began to form early in the morning and grew larger through the day, reaching its climax about 3 o'clock.

There was unanimity in the belief that never before was there such a large crowd at a Fayette county agricultural fair. While thousands filled the grandstand and lined up around the race track to witness the harness events, more thousands, it seemed, were strolling through the big midway or crowding the exhibit stands.

It was a trying day for those with exhibits at the fair, and others who were on hand to direct the parking of cars and handle the crowds. The streams of automobile into the park alone now was constant and after the races had ended cars flowed steadily out of the enclosure for some time.

It is a safe estimate that there were 150 automobiles parked within the enclosure surrounded by the track. Hundreds of others were parked at other points within the park and still more were left standing on the roads outside the fair grounds.

It was a "big" day in every sense of the word. The weather could not have been more ideal, although it was somewhat threatening in the morning. This is the first time in years that the fair has had more than two days of good weather.

People arriving in the morning spending baskets with them and ate their luncheons in the fields on the edges of the park. Hundreds of others patronized the concessions, which did a great business.

To an observer it was a typical fair. The crowds jammed and pushed through the midway. Horse races were being run off on the track and a roar would rise from the grandstand as the engineers neared the finish, as airplane in the air, just above the fair grounds, was carrying passengers and going through aerial acrobatics; bicyclists were crying their attractions, and fairies were plentiful.

Baltimore & Ohio trains carrying crowds to Dawson and the West Penn ran double header street car service with a 15-minute schedule. Taxi drivers operating between the stations and the park, did a big business. There were about half a hundred automobiles engaged in this work and there was no jacking in bushes throughout the entire day.

No accidents were reported. Great care was exercised by those in charge of managing the crowd to look after the safety of the patrons and so well was this accomplished that not a single injury resulted to any amateur's pleasure.

Today marked the closing of the sixth annual event. Stock and other exhibits could not be removed before 3 o'clock, however, and at that time the interest of practically everyone was confined to the races.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTTDALE, Sept. 17.—The body of Mrs. Mary L. Robinson was shipped yesterday to New Geneva, where interment was made. Mrs. Robinson was 73 years old, and was the wife of E. L. Robinson. She died at her home here Tuesday from a fall she received, resulting in concussion of the brain. Mrs. Robinson who had resided in Scottdale for many years was a charter member of the W. C. T. U. and had been a member and worker in the First Presbyterian church. Funeral services were held at the home on Wednesday evening in charge of Rev. J. E. Hutchinson.

Last Game of Season.
The last baseball game of the season will be played at the Loucks park on Saturday at 3 o'clock. The game will be between the Scottdale Athletics and the Jeannette Steelers.

Contributions for Soldiers.
A display has been made of the contributions given for the soldiers at the Markleton Sanitarium in the William Ferguson window, Pittsburg street. Yesterday the contributions were still coming in and the appeal of the Red Cross to the people of Scottdale is to make this the biggest day Scottdale has ever given for soldiers.

Let Appearance Be Your Guide In Selecting Furniture Here!

Aaron Quality Is Your Guarantee

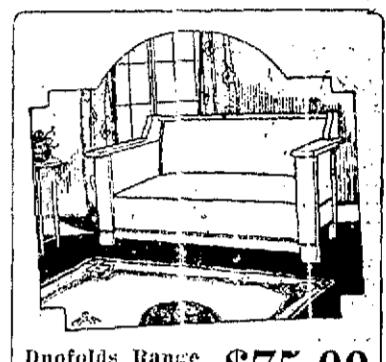

Appearance undoubtedly is the dominating influence in the selection of furniture. The average home furniture buyer has no means of knowing what is beneath a highly polished surface which makes a strong appeal to the eye. Unless precautions are taken the beautiful surface may conceal many faults of construction or poor material which a few years' wear brings to the surface in bold relief.

It is here that the reliable, dependable furniture dealer protects his customers. And Aaron's, of course, take unusual pains to insure the quality of the furniture sold to our customers. Appearance of Aaron furniture is always appealing, attractive. But we make sure that under the surface is furniture of the best material, constructed without a fault with quality built right into it. You are safe here in selecting furniture from appearance alone.

FRIDAY EVENING, SEP. 17, 1920.

WHOLE COKE REGION IS PROUD.
Without regard to section or other real or imaginary divisions the Connellsville coke region will join in hearty congratulations to the Leisenring First Aid team, winners of the honors at the recent nation-wide meet at Denver, Col.

Although made up of the employes of a single plant and employer the team in the larger sense represented the whole region, hence there will be no disposition to withdraw from the "National Champions" the full measure of praise due them. They are the product of a section of the country where First Aid, as applied to mining, really had its origin and where it has been brought to such a high degree of perfection that all other mining regions have taken the work of the Connellsville region teams as their model.

That perfection has been attained by dint of hard work, patient and faithful practice and intelligent and careful training by the engineers and others in charge. In the Denver competition the Leisering team exemplified in a superior degree the skill and knowledge the members had acquired, hence were declared the winners.

The whole coke region therefore has just cause to be proud of "Scribbles' Pots," because their achievements have conferred a new and merited distinction upon the home of Safety First.

WHAT FAYETTE'S CENSUS SHOWS.

A study of the census returns for Fayette county reveals the same drift of population away from the agricultural sections that is being reported from other counties at large, but not to the extent noticeable elsewhere in the state. While every township in the county in which farming is the principal industry shows a decline in population those townships where mining is assuming larger proportions have shown increases. The largest gain is reported from Larimer township where the population grew 4,458 during the preceding two years. Other gains are shown in the following: Royston township, 3,871; German township, 2,738; Georges township, 1,602; Nicholson township, 1,141; North Union, 784; South Union, 632; Springfield, 499; Saltillo, where the newest mining developments are in progress, 670; Brownsville township, Perry, 460; Washington, 366; Monallen, 269, and Lower Tyrone, 129.

The township showing the largest decline was Dunbar, where a number of mining operations have been abandoned since the census of 1910 was taken. Other townships decreased as follows: Upper Tyrone, 991; Bull Run, 633; Stewart, 397; Franklin, 218; Springfield, 217; Wharton, 52; Jefferson, 49; and Henry Clay, 22; total of 2,519.

Five of the boroughs showed small er declines in 1920 than in 1910. Dunbar lost 303; Markleysburg, 36; Ohiopyle, 36; Belle Vernon, 30, and Vanderbilt, 15; a total of 480.

Nine incorporated sub-divisions of the county developed gains as follows:
Uniontown, 2,348; Connellsville, 939;
Marscown, 635; Fairchance, 384;
Point Marion, 228; Everson, 220; Brownsville, 178; Dawson, 108, and Fayette City, 43.

Against the loss of 2,549 in the eight farming townships enumerated there was a total gain of 16,378 in 14 townships which are partially industrial in character, as compared with a gain of 6,015 in the purely commercial and industrial cities and towns.

While there was thus a very pronounced increase in the town population it was in fact only about one-third as large as the increase in the industrial townships. Important as this increase is in illustrating the growth of Fayette county's industries, the lamentable fact revealed by the census is the loss of 2,549 persons from the food producing sections of the county. It is a loss that cannot be regarded as in any way compensated by the gains in the towns and industrial sections. It means that the principal proportion between producers and consumers is not being maintained.

And that although Fayette county is well adapted to diversified farming and food production, the number of persons so engaged is becoming less and in consequence we will have to continue to import from other sections a very considerable part of our farm and garden products.

Because of the great increase of the imports who still continue in business the last 10% of farm products has increased over former years but they have not yet caught up with demand and cannot be expected to do so with the number of producers decrease and the number of consumers increase.

That Wall street explosion was more violent and more fatal than that following the "unheralded raid" in Lancaster, but the latter seems to have sent some profits much higher up than the former.

The "unheralded raid" seems to have been heralded altogether too much to please some of the persons presumed to have had advance information of its coming.

The Dawson fair people don't be-placeing gifts if they do not award the weatherman a shiny ribbon.

New Mailer locomotives come high but the "Billow" need them to keep train movement at high tide.

Considerable quantity exists as to whether fall label suits will conform to current styles in men's wear to the extent of making ample provision for hip pockets.

The guns captured at Denver cheer the admiral of the Leisering Championship and will not infuriate their competitors.

Supplying the Democratic slogan to the situation it may be observed that Fence having been somewhat badly shattered at the County Capital, and certain Progress having been made in the direction toward the adoption of constitutional status of the "Unorganized District," the public will be more fully convinced than ever that the Proprietary of the Barefoot champion has come to tragic end.

After the A. E. F.
Harvey's Weekly.

John Hoar committed suicide in Chicago the other day. He was a veteran of the war. He had joined the Dynes Pat Regiment in Canada before America entered the war, and had served under the Union Jack. He served with distinguished valor until in the Battle of the Somme he had both legs shot off. When he came home a cripple the girl to whom he had been engaged insisted upon marrying him and then went to work to support him. For a time the Canadian government paid him $55 a month on account of his disabilities, and that helped them to get along.
But the other day it was known that his stipend was discontinued. At that he decided to relieve his wife of the burden of supporting a derelict. So he put on his Croix de Guerre and other decorations of honor; and turned out on the gas.

That was just three days after the formal abolition of the American Expeditionary Forces. As he was not a member of the A. E. F. there was of course no connection between the two incidents. Also upon the Canadian government, not upon ours, falls whatever odium there may be.
Yet it is impossible to help wondering how many John Hores there are in the United States to-day who were members of the A. E. F.; how many tens of thousands of maimed or invalid veterans who are suffering want because of the heartless and fathers failure of the government to do its duty toward them, a duty which the President himself has rightly described as of the most sacred character.

We are not now referring to any general bonus, which we believe would not be acceptable to the majority of the Legion; nor to mere pension, for the disabled, though of course every consideration of justice and decency requires that men who in serving the nation lost the ability to care for themselves shall be cared for by the nation. It would be scandalous to enforce a workmen's compensation act in private industry and omit it in the supreme service of the nation. But we are referring to the helping of men to help themselves, the "vocational training and rehabilitation" which was so sacredly—and so glibly—promised and so infamously denied.

There was an appropriation made of the people's money, for the doing of that work, and a large and expensive bureau of government was organized by the President for its administration. The result was an indeed disgrace to America. The administrators of that most sacred trust spent more of the money in paying salaries to themselves than in rehabilitating the soldiers. Their general attitude toward the disabled veterans was one of suspicion and repellent. They were inclined to reserve every man as a malingerer and impostor until he proved himself to be honest, and then they devoted all their ingenuity and energy to knocking him around from pillar to post until he got disburdened and gave up the quest for aid and turned back to his own resources or died. Their whole purpose seemed to be to do as little as possible of the work for the doing of which they were appointed and paid.

Of the responsibility for this unspeakable scandal there can be no certainty. It rests upon the President of the United States. That is conceded by even his most loyal political supporters. When the matter was brought before Congress, after most thorough investigation and mature deliberation, a committee unanimously agreed—Democrats and Republicans alike—that full power to deal with it was vested in the President, under the Overman act. It might have been well for Congress to take out of the way and by special enactment to have compelled the President to take effective action. But its omission to do so does not relieve the President of one iota of responsibility for tolerating the most flagrant breach of faith and most ungrateful and inhuman act ever committed by the government of the United States.

While there was thus a very pronounced increase in the town population
it was in fact only about one-
third as large as the increase in the industrial townships. Important as
this increase is in illustrating the
growth of Fayette county's industries,
the lamentable fact revealed by the 10 cents extra for every pound of his cotton

What farm experience has taught Jim Littlefield about overalls

WHEN Jim Littlefield, of Braden, Oklahoma, turned in his cotton crop last year, he got a ten-cent premium on every pound. Experience has taught him the grade of cotton that pays him best. And this same experience has taught him the sort of work clothes that wear best on the job.

James Littlefield has tried a lot of overalls since he started cotton raising—and today you'll find him in Blue Buckle Overalls.

No matter how heavy the work is on his farm, he has found that Blue Buckles stand every test he gives them. And today millions of men, raising the nation's food supply, running trains, mines, and factories, have found that Blue Buckles

KOBACKER STORE HAS AN EXCELLENT FASHION DISPLAY

Furs Have Prominent Place In Big Store's Annual Fall Opening.

SCENE OF UNUSUAL BEAUTY

Showcasing of What It has Been Decreed Shall Be Worn, Along with Extensive Array of Merchandise in General, Greats Eyes of Visiting Throngs.

The Kobacker store was the center of interest in local merchandising circles yesterday, the occasion being the annual fall opening, which drew large crowds to the North Pittsburgh street establishment. With tastefully arranged display windows and an assortment of merchandise unexcelled for a city of this size, there was much for the visitors to "The Big Store" to see and admire.

A feature of the opening was a magnificent showing of furs, especially arranged for the event. Courts of Hudson seal, marten, raccoon, muskrat and squirrel, with varied trimmings; capes of fitch, squirrel, mink and other high grade pelts were shown on the second floor and attracted a great deal of attention, not only on the part of the women visitors, but the men who were there in considerable numbers.

Machinery occupied a prominent place in the great assortment of merchandise. It has been made the policy of the Kobacker firm this year to cater to the demand for headwear of a popular price and consequently a large line of medium cost hats were presented for the fair sex to choose from.

Better values than in a long time are claimed by the management in what had been prepared for their inspection.

Everything that one would desire, everything that would be seen in the larger stores of the cities, the latest decrees of Dame Fashion were there for inspection.

On the second floor, where is the millinery department, were also displayed an extensive array of other women's wear of which the Big Store feels it has a right to be proud.

On the first floor attention was directed to the dress goods department with its multitude of fabrics from which to select for the garment that is to be made to order. Here also are the shoe department, one of the larg-

Simply matched the decorations. Forms graced the ledges and were placed at other places to add to the attractiveness of the general scene.

Hand-painted decorations arranged along the walls were an added feature. The whole setting was artistic.

All through the opening hours crowds of people came and went and were pleased to judge by the comments, with what had been prepared for their inspection.

Webster —Man's Man

By PETER B. KYNE

Author of
"Cappy Rich," "The Valley of the Giants," etc.

(Copied by Peter B. Kyne)

As the column approached the height of the arsenal, three detachments broke away from the main body and disappeared down side street to turn at right angles later and march parallel with the main command. Each of these detachments was accompanied by one unit of the motorized machine gun battery with its white crew two blocks beyond the arsenal square each detachment leader so disposed his men as to offer spiritual resistance to any sortie that might be made by the troops from the palace in the hope of driving off the attackers of the arsenal.

Having thus provided for protection during its operations the main body nominally under Dr. Tejero but in reality commanded by the chief of the machine gun company proceeded to operate. With the utmost assurance in the world the armored truck rolled down the street to the arsenal entrance, swiveled in and pointed its impudent nose straight at the iron bars while the hidden chauffeur called loudly and profanely in Spanish upon the sentry to open the gate and let him in—that there was a necessity for great favors since he had been sent down from the palace by the priest depute himself for machine guns to equip this armored motor. He sent immediately right in the officer of the guard who pointed no observed nothing but the motor truck which seemed fair from danger as far as he could see. But he also had a huge key in the lock and turned it. The sentry, seeing the double gates flung wide with a prolonged and raucous roar of its horn the big car logged in. The sentry closed the gate again while the officer stepped up to turn the key in the lock. Instead he died with half a dozen pistol bullets through his body, and the sentry sprawled beside him.

The prolonged roar of the motor-horn had been the signal agreed upon to apprise the detachment waiting in a secluded back street that the truck was inside the arsenal wall. With a yell they swept out of the side street and down on the gate through which they poured into the usual grounds. At sound of the first shot at the gate the command of "Forward" was given, which had been drawn up to a double rank for revolver roll call, realized he was attacked and that swift measures were necessary. Fortunately for him his men were standing at attention at the time preparatory to receiving from him one of those state-bait's exhortations so dear to the Latin soul.

A sharp command, and the little garrison had fixed bayonets, another command, and they were in line of squad, before the autotruck could be swung sideways to permit a machine gun to play on the Sobranteiros. In close formation, the latter had thrown out an skirmish line and were charging while from the guardhouse window just inside the gate, a volley, poured into the unprotected rear of the truck following its passage through the gate, did deadly execution. The driver, a bullet through his back, sagged forward into his steel-clad citadel; both machine gun operators were wounded, and the truck was stalled. The situation was desperate.

"I'm a gone goose," mourned Don Juan Caffero, and he leaped from the shambles to the ground with some heavy notion of making his escape through the gate. He was too late. Two men, riding tandem on a motorcycle with a machine gun in the specially constructed side-car, appeared in the entrance and leaped off almost before Don Juan had time to dodge behind the autotruck to escape possible wild bullets the machine gun was sweeping the oncoming skirmish line. Don Juan cheered as soon after man of the garrison pitched on his face, for the odds were rapidly being evened, not greatly to the pleasure of the men charging through the gate to support the machine gun. Onto the arsenal yard they swept forcing the machine gun crew to cease firing because of the danger of killing their own men, with a shock bayonet met bayonet in the center of the yard and the issue was up for prompt and final decision.

"Don Juan's Hibernian blood flared, he cast about for a weapon in this emergency, and his glance rested on the body of the dead officer beside the gate. To possess himself of the latter he lay "cut and thrust" sword was the work of seconds and with a royal good will Don Juan launched himself into the heart of the scuffle.

Quickly ended by a pleasant German killing Antiseptic, the little hand dirk is made of fine leather and easily be carried in pocket or purse. It will last a lifetime, this little point a few drops of magical disinfectant and the hand is dry. The body of the fallen officer is left in peace, the gate is open, the gun is silent, and the work of killing continues. Only one mile of West African unguis wood with other antiseptics it is very pleasant to breathe. It is guaranteed to send staphylococci, streptococci, and other bacteria out of your body. It is a pleasure to use. Soft as a baby's skin and rugged everywhere.

Launched Himself Into the Heart of the Scuffle

He had a hazy impression that he was striking and stabbing at him that were crowded and he tried to press his sword and grunted around him that the fighting room was no better than it might have been but was rapidly improving. Then the gun fire stopped and Doctor Preboco had Don Juan by the hand, they stood together in the arsenal entrance and the Dr. to Doctor was explaining to the wounded Don Juan that all was over so far as he usual was concerned—the survivors of the garrison having surrendered—but that now they had the opportunity. The Doctor had a desire to thank Don Juan for his life. Don Juan looked at the amazed Dr. for he had the idea that the Doctor was talking about him. He spun around round at the litter of corpses on the assault lawn and nodded his head and approvingly.

In an incredulous short space of time the news that the arsenal had been captured and that Sarres was besieged in the palace spread through the city.

The sight of the red banner of revolution floating over the arsenal for the first time in fifteen years brought hundreds of willing recruits to the rebel ranks, as Alvaro Ruiz had anticipated, these were quickly supplied with arms and ammunition, often once a battalion had been formed and sent off together with the machine gun company to connect with the San Bruno contingent advancing from the south to turn the flank of the government troops with the equipping of an additional battalion proceeded within the arsenal. As fast as the new levies were armed they were hurried off to re-enforce the handful of white men who had after clearing the arsenal advanced on the palace and now, with machine guns from the arsenal commanding all avenues of escape from the trap wherein Sarres found himself were calmly awaiting developments merely keeping an eye open for snipers.

DR. HOLLISTER, KNOWN TO SOME LOCAL SOLDIERS, IN CHARGE OF TRAVELING DENTAL CLINIC

"Using the same dishes three times a day without washing them, is no worse," says Dr. C. J. Hollister, "than failing to brush the teeth carefully after each meal."

Doctor Hollister, who lives at 343 East Second street, Moonstown, N. J., is the newly appointed supervisor of dental hygiene for Pennsylvania. The work is financed by, and is under the jurisdiction of, the state health department.

He will be the head of a traveling clinic, whose office is an ambulance fully equipped with dental instruments, which will examine and correct school children's teeth. They plan first to go into the cities and large towns throughout the state.

"Our immediate plan," Doctor Hollister explained, "is to conduct an educational campaign to demonstrate to every one the absolute necessity of caring for the teeth. Less than 15 per cent of the adults in the state receive any dental attention at all, and from my experience with the troops on the border in 1918, from 90 to 95 per cent of them seriously need dental work."

While the necessary work in addition to cleaning the teeth will be done, the basic idea of the clinic is to teach the habit of cleanliness. He emphasized the fact that a "clean tooth never decays."

"If we can get the children," he says, "trained into brushing their teeth regularly, the problem will be solved, for it is in childhood and adolescence that the teeth decay. If a person reaches 20 years of age without decayed tooth, it is highly improbable that any trouble will occur after that."

"Another serious point is the ignorance of parents of the importance of the first teeth. They have two purposes, the first, which nearly every one believes to be the only purpose, is to chew food, and the second is to shape the jaw to properly accommodate the permanent teeth. If these first teeth become decayed, or are pulled before nature loosens them, the permanent teeth are liable to grow in crooked, bunched, or otherwise uneven."

Dr. Hollister is known to boys of Connellsville who were in camp at Augusta, Ga., before going to France. He was with the 110th Medical Detachment under Major Robert S. McKee but was sent to another unit before the 110th left for overseas.

It is not known when the traveling clinic will reach Connellsville.

NURSE ENDORSES FAMOUS NERV-WORTH

Says That It Does All That is Claimed For It, Quiets the Nerves, Aids Digestion, and Produces Restful Sleep.

"I recommend Nerv-Worth because of the fact that it certainly did benefit me when I became nervous and tired after a long term of nursing." Thus wrote Claire Childers, a Parkersburg, W. Va., nurse, some time ago, and she continued, "in my business it becomes necessary to lose lots of sleep, and requires many hours of constant watching, which wears on the nerves. Nerv-Worth does all that you claim for it. It quiets the nerves, aids digestion, and produces restful sleep."

The above is an endorsement from a woman whose profession constantly throws her in contact with medicines and their uses, and various kinds of sickness. A nurse does not recommend anything that is not good, and their professional knowledge makes their recommendation one worth while. Nothing need be added to the above statement, as it tells fully what Nerv-Worth does. If you suffer from nervousness, sleeplessness, stomach trouble, or their attending ill, give this famous preparation a trial, and if your first trial bottle does not prove that it is helping you, your money will be refunded. You will finally come to Nerv-Worth for real results, so why not start now? Be sure to get the genuine Nerv-Worth in the large round bottle. Price $1.25 plus tax. SMITHFIELD, Sept. 16.—Dr. and Mrs. DeBassett and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. O'Neill of New Salem called on relatives here Sunday evening.

O. S. Vance is attending the state encampment of the Junior Order of American Mechanics at Sharpsburg and is a delegate from the local council here.

G. A. Feather is transacting business in Pittsburgh this week.

Mrs. Thomas Sampy of Uniontown is visiting her sister, Mrs. G. A. Feather, this week.

Mrs. L. B. Brownfield of Uniontown was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sutton, the first of the week.

Charles Temple of Waynesburg was before a local justice of the peace last Friday on a charge of seduction, and other charges preferred by the Brink of Nicholson township. The defendant admitted the illicit intercourse, but denied that he ever refused to marry the informant, who changed her mind at the hearing and agreed to become Mrs. Temple. Barkus was willing, whereupon they procured a marriage license in Uniontown Monday and were married in the recorder's office.

Jones was not held until Wednesday evening instead of Tuesday as previously announced. Mr. Hackman conducted the service at the home Wednesday evening at 7:30. The funeral party left here at 10 o'clock Thursday morning for Connellsville where interment was made. Patronize those who advertise.

IN YE OLDEN TIME

Hoop skirts were worn by those who first asked the druggist for, and insisted on having, the genuine Golden Medical Discovery put up by Dr. Pierce over fifty years ago. Dress has changed very much since then! But Dr. Pierce's medicines contain the same dependable ingredients. They are standard today just as they were fifty years ago.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the stomach and blood cannot be surpassed by any remedy today.

Dr. Pierce's favorite prescription for weak women has never been equalled for the distressing complaints incident to womanhood! What others say:

"I have derived great benefit from using Dr. Pierce's family remedies. For nearly four years I was in poor health, I could not in these few lines describe my feelings. I used both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription' and found these medicines all and more than is claimed for them."

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-Style Recipe That Anybody Can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur to restore faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out of date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wright's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair to naturally and evenly, and nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after an other application of two it becomes beautiful, dark and glossy.
